One Belt One Road / yī dài yī lù/ 一带一路

One Belt One Road or Belt and Road Initiative is an ambitious project of China. This project is to connect Asia with Africa and Europe via land and maritime networks. The aim of this project is to improve regional integration, increasing trade and stimulating economic growth.

The One Belt One Road project is the brainchild of Chinese President Xi Jinping. He announced this project in 2013. The name was also coined by Xi Jinping, who drew inspiration from the concept of ancient Silk Road. OBOR is modern version of ancient Silk Road which was an ancient network of trade routes that connected China to the Eurasia for centuries. The project involves building a big network of roadways, railways, maritime ports, power grids, oil and gas pipelines, and associated infrastructure projects in 78 countries. This is an ambitious project that focuses on improving connectivity and cooperation among multiple countries spread across the continents of Asia, Africa, and Europe.

Buddhism

Buddhism is practiced by about 18% people in China. This religion first reached China about 2000 years ago. It subsequently developed into three sections, Han Buddhism, Tibetan Buddhism, and Southern Buddhism. Buddhism has had a great influence on the local culture in China in terms of art, literature, and ideology. Today, Buddhism enjoys followers from all social classes. There are about 13000 Buddhist temples with 1,80,000 monks and nuns in mainland China.
